The Periakulam Circle was formed only in April 1964. The Co-operative Societies in Periakulam taluk were formerly under the jurisdiction of the Deputy Registrar, Dindigul Circle. In view of the ban, imposed on the sanction of new loans for construction of houses, consequent on the promulgation of "National Emergency" in December 1962, new loan applications could not be entertained. The funds made available by the Life Insurance Corporation of India in 1963–64 and 1964–65 were too meagre to meet the requirements of housing co-operatives. Out of 24 applications for loan received from the Theni Co-operative Building Society in 1964–65. 10 were returned, because 5 applications were defective and construction in respect of 5 other cases was already completed. The remaining 14 applications would be considered in the current year, subject to availability of funds.

A sum of Rs. 0.58 lakh was, however, sanctioned to the Gudalur Rural Housing Society in Periakulam Circle behalf of 10 members for construction of houses in 1964–65.
